Virginia Cooperative Extension

Virginia Tech • Virginia State University

Virginia Cooperative Extension is a partnership of Virginia Tech, Virginia State University, the U.S. Department of Agriculture, and local governments. Its programs and employment are open to all, regardless of age, color, disability, sex (including pregnancy), gender, gender identity, gender expression, national origin, political affiliation, race, religion, sexual orientation, genetic information, military status, or any other basis protected by law.

BUCKINGHAM- CUMBERLAND LIVESTOCK CLUB

Open for any youth ages 9-19!

WHAT DO WE DO?

LIVESTOCK HANDLING

Club members have opportunities for hands-on learning with their animals. Here, club members are learning by doing at the Heart of Virginia Show and Grow Youth Livestock Educational Clinic!

FUN ACTIVITIES

Club members participate in MANY fun activities throughout the year. Our craft committee plans crafts for every other meeting. Here, local producer, Rob French, is demonstrating how to properly wash, clip, and dry a goat in preparation for the upcoming show.

CLUB MEETINGS

At our monthly meetings, youth learn about the many different parts of the agriculture industry. In previous meetings, we have covered topics like YQCA, careers in agriculture, disease management, and biosecurity. Here, local producer and retired Extension Agent, Alvin Thomas, is teaching club members about the different cuts of beef and their marketability.

LEADERSHIP

We would not have a functional club without a proper executive committee. Each year, youth have the opportunity to run for officer positions and expand their leadership and public speaking skills.
